Where Some See the Ordinary, You See Opportunity

Designers at DeSantis Breindel are smart. Really smart. They're savvy problem solvers who enthusiastically take on brand design challenges that span digital, traditional, and experiential touchpoints. They're as passionate about strategic problem solving as they are about color, contrast, and composition. Mentored by the creative director and more senior designers, they work closely with the account, strategy, and technical teams throughout the course of a project. We're looking for a designer who's not afraid to speak up with new ideas: about designs, concepts, critiques...or even the snack of the week. Join us.

What You'll Do

- Collaborate with the design team to create stunning, intelligent solutions for B2B and non-profit clients from around the world
- Implement creative solutions that exceed client expectations everywhere a brand can live—web, video, marketing, events, collateral, campaigns, and more
- Manage project tasks with accuracy, timeliness, and attention to detail
- Receive hands-on guidance, professional development, and recognition
- Share your point of view and ideas, actively participating in our culture of collective learning

What we're looking for

- Undergraduate degree in related art or visual design discipline
- 1–3 years of design experience
- Strong conceptual and design abilities and a solid understanding of design fundamentals, including imagery, color theory
- Strong grasp of visual design for digital touchpoints
- Hands on, expert knowledge of Adobe Creative Suite and Microsoft Office
- Basic knowledge of popular social media platforms (LinkedIn, Twitter, Facebook, Instagram)
- Excellent organization and attention to detail
- Keen sense of humor
- Preferred: Branding experience
